

I FEEL
SLOVENIA

DRIVEN BY NATURE, DEFINED BY SPORTS

For a small country, Slovenia sure knows how to pack a punch. (Times Series)

Few places in Europe bring together such a rich variety of landscapes and experiences so effortlessly as Slovenia, creating the perfect setting for year-round outdoor experiences. Recognised as a global leader in sustainable tourism, the country offers not only pristine nature, but also a lifestyle rooted in balance, wellbeing and respect for the environment.

In a single day, you can move from alpine peaks to rolling vineyards or the Adriatic coast, choosing between cycling, hiking, skiing, water sports or simply slowing down in nature. It is no coincidence that such an environment inspires world-class athletes.

Slovenia has become synonymous with sporting excellence, producing exceptional talents across disciplines – from cycling and climbing to basketball, football and winter sports. Their achievements reflect a culture where movement, resilience and a deep connection to nature are part of everyday life. It is therefore no surprise that the Slovenian Tourist Board partners with top-class athletes who serve as powerful ambassadors of Slovenian tourism. This year, ski jumper Domen Prevc joined this distinguished group, alongside Luka Dončić, Janja Garnbret, Primož Roglič and Tadej Pogačar.

Slovenia is also an established stage for international sporting events. From iconic outdoor competitions set against spectacular landscapes to high-level indoor tournaments, the country regularly brings together athletes and fans from around the world. The atmosphere is both passionate and welcoming, offering visitors a chance to experience sport not just as a spectacle, but as a shared national spirit ❤️.
